

DR. TODD QUEEN DIRECTS OPERA IN ROME

Dr. Todd Queen, Associate Professor of Voice and Director of Opera at Colorado State University, recently returned from Rome. He developed a new curriculum and directed more than 30 students in the opera scenes program at Operafestival di Roma, where he has been on the faculty for four years. His student James Baumgardner was selected to sing the role of Masetto in Don Giovanni in the main stage production of the event.

Dr. Queen earned DMA and MM degrees from the prestigious Eastman School of Music after completing his undergraduate degree at Brigham Young University in Utah. He is an active member of College Music Society and the National Association of Teachers of Singing.

Queen performs regularly as a soloist with national and regional opera companies, orchestras, choruses, and concert series. He is equally at home in the intimate setting of the solo song recital, and has received high praise for his artistry in performances of German lieder, French chanson, and Italian art song.

You can hear Dr. Queen sing on September 17, when he performs in the CSU Virtuoso Series. The concert is followed by a Meet the Artist Reception where you will have a chance to talk with this outstanding musician!
