About Mallory Buffer

Mallory Buffer is from Louisville, Colorado where she began dancing at the age of four with Boulder's Expressions Dance Company under the direction of Elizabeth Ross. She studied the Russian classical Vaganova method of ballet for thirteen years. She then added additional training in modern, jazz, lyrical, tap, and hip-hop with Grace Studios of Broomfield, CO. Mallory studied in New York with Iliya Gaft, director of the New York Ballet Institute.

Mallory has performed in Boulder Ballet's Sleeping Beauty and has also performed The Four Little Swans, the Sleeping Beauty Jewel Fairies, and Paquita. Recently she has traveled throughout the United States performing with the Silver Screen Saloon Show. She has taught dance at several local studios including Grace Studios, City of Boulder, A Dance Place, Canyon Concert Ballet and High Country Conservatory of Dance.

During her education at CSU, Mallory has worked with faculty choreographers such as Chung-Fu Chang, Melissa Corr, Carol Roderick and Jane Slusarski-Harris. She was a member of the CSU Tour Dance Company traveling and performing throughout Colorado during 2007-2008. In March, 2009 she performed at American College Dance Festival at Middle Tennessee State University. Mallory has also performed in the university productions of various Student Dance Concerts, Spring and Fall Dance Concerts, Senior Dance Concerts, and Faculty Shows while working on her degree.

After graduation in 2009, Mallory would like to pursue a professional career with a modern or contemporary company.
